Mothers Here Next Friday

Final Arrangements Made For Full Day's Entertainment for Mothers.

Final arrangements for the annual Mothers' Day at the Northwest Missouri State Teachers College next Friday, May 17, have been made by the Faculty Committee on Public Relations, according to Mr. O. Myking Mehus, chairman of the committee.

A full day's program providing entertainment every hour of the day from nine o'clock in the morning until after the May Fete, which begins at 8:00, Friday evening, has been planned. At the special Mothers' Day assembly program, prepared by C. James Veile and Minnie B. James, Francis Sloniker, president of the student council, will welcome the mothers in behalf of the student body. A. H. Cooper will speak in behalf of the faculty.

Luncheon in honor of the Mothers will be served at Residence Hall at noon and tickets for the luncheon may be purchased from Henry M. Alexander, Max Stalcup, or Nadine Wooderson. Tickets must be purchased not later than Tuesday, May 14, as the Committee on Public Relations must know how many mothers will be present in order to make proper arrangements for the day.

Speakers at the luncheon include a representative from the student body, a member of the faculty, and the mothers.

The social hour will be in Social Hall from three to four o'clock and is open to all members of the faculty and to the college students and their mothers.

Margaret Stephenson and Elizabeth White, who have charge of the social hour, have planned it for the purpose of giving the mothers the opportunity to meet the faculty members, college students, and other mothers.

In the receiving line will be Carrie Hopkins, Francis Sloniker, Dean Miller, President of the YMCA, President of the YWCA, and President of Residence Hall. During the social hour, tea will be served by Mrs. Uel W. Lamkin and Mrs. J. W. Hake. The committee in charge of intermediate music includes Ruth Tegmeyer and W. T. Garrett.

Students enrolled for the short course are urged to invite their mothers to attend the annual Mothers' Day on May 17.

Bearcats Win Fourth Track Meet

Coming from behind on the last four events, the Bearcats won their fourth straight track and field meet last Friday, beating Kirksville 72 to 64.

Trailing 46 to 62 with but four events left on the program, the Bearcats made a clean sweep of them all to win by an 8-point margin. Neil won the broad jump and Good placed second.

In the most interesting race of the afternoon, the two-mile, Little "Doc" Wilson and Stevenson placed first and second, pulling the Bearcats within winning distance of the Bulldogs.

With only the relays remaining and the Bearcats needing both to win, the crowd became excited and executed a war dance when the relay teams came out the winner in both relays.

As usual, Herschel Neil was the high point man of the meet with 22½ points to his credit. Nail won the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds, and broke the state record in the 220-yard dash, running the distance in 21.7, one-tenth of a second less than the record he tied last year.

Albert Gray and Thompson may not be able to compete in the MIAA championship today because of sprained ankles.

A. A. U. P. to Honor Ranking Students

The Maryville chapter of the American Association of University Professors will give a dinner on May 20, at the Hotel Linville, in recognition of four students of each class for their high scholastic achievements.

Invitations will be issued to four seniors, four juniors, four sophomores, and four freshmen as soon as the records have been determined.

Cooper Home During Recess of House

While the House is in recess awaiting the decision of the Senate concerning bills passed by the House Mr. A. H. "Bert" Cooper is enjoying a short stay in Maryville.

In case any changes are made in the bills through the Senate's action, they will be referred to conference committees of three to five members from each house. Mr. Cooper related last week. When the compromise has been effected, Dr. Christy, Speaker of the House, will telegraph each House member to return and the bills will be sent to the House and the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. Cooper says that the Senate as a whole is a group of conscientious, high-type men and are not deliberately holding up legislation but are trying to get the best law possible. Mr. Cooper believes that some sort of sales tax will ultimately be agreed upon, and that the rate will probably be about two percent. Relief, schools, and old age pensions will then have an adequate source of finance.

Drawings Made For Intramural Matches

Drawings for the intramural tennis, golf, and horseshoe pitching tournaments were posted this week by the intramural commission and preliminary matches are already under way. Medals will be awarded to the winners in all divisions.

The following rules were adopted by the intramural commission for the tournaments: (1) All first and second round matches must be played by 8 a. m., Monday, May 20. All matches not indicated on the tournament charts as completed will be scratched at that time.

(2) All golf matches shall be nine holes match play. Course rules found on the score cards of the Maryville Country Club shall govern tournament play.

(3) Tennis matches shall be best two out of three sets.

(4) Horseshoe matches shall be best two out of three games to 21 points. Matches shall be played with the shoes furnished by the athletic department or with any official shoes.

(5) The results of all matches, including scores, must be posted on the tournament charts, preferably by the losers.

KENNETH H. GREESON

Kenneth Greeson in Fatal Crash

Former Popular Member of College Student Body Was Co-Pilot.

Friends of Kenneth H. Greeson, former active and popular student, were shocked and grieved to learn that he fell to his death in the great TWA plane, Sky Chief, of which he was co-pilot, when it crashed near Macon, at 3:30 Monday morning, May 6.

Three other persons including U. S. Senator Bronson M. Cutting, of Santa Fe, New Mexico, Pilot Harvey Bolton, of Kansas City and Miss Jeanne Hillias, of Kansas City, also were killed, and nine other passengers were seriously injured in the crash which completely demolished the ship. Another passenger died later.

Mr. Greeson, who was enrolled in the College from 1929 to 1931, was twenty-six years of age. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Greeson of 316 East Sixth Street. His wife was the former Miss Carol Oliphant, a graduate of the College and former instructor in commerce in the North Kansas City High school. Her home was at Cainsville.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Greeson were leaders in College organizations and student activities here. Mr. Greeson was a member of the Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, and at one time was president of the Growlers. For a time he served as business manager of the College men's glee club. He was one of the best cheer leaders the College has ever had.

The Tower for 1929 gives the following concerning his work as a cheer leader: "Kenneth Greeson and Truman Nickerson as cheer leaders during the athletic season of 1928-29 were successful in creating and maintaining a true college spirit. Their enthusiasm combined with their yell leading ability were assets which especially equipped them for their positions. They revealed that a fighting student body made for a fighting team and they proceeded to instill 'Victory' into the team and student body alike. Constantly, both off and on the field these men were working for a bigger and better STC spirit."

Mr. Greeson was born on a farm southwest of Maryville. He attended the Graham schools and then was graduated from the Maryville High School with the class of 1927.

In 1932, after having taken his preparatory work at the College, Mr. Greeson was enrolled in the regular army air service at March Flying Field in California. He liked his chosen field of work and despite the fact that he was severely injured in a plane crash while a flying student, when he recovered he was transferred to Brooks Field near San Antonio, Texas, where he became a commissioned army flier, graduating with full honors.

While students in the College, Mr. and Mrs. Greeson became friends and they were married in December, 1933.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Greeson last Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Greeson. A short service was also held at the First Baptist Church at 2:30 p. m.

Attend College Newspaper Meet

Dwight Dalbey, editor, and Frederick Schneider, staff reporter of "The Northwest Missourian" were in Columbia, last Friday and Saturday attending a meeting of the Missouri College Newspaper Association which was held in connection with the twenty-sixth annual journalism week held at the journalism school at the University of Missouri. All business sessions were held in the Jay H. Neff Hall, journalism building.

Please Write, Jack!

An incident which occurred at the MCNA meeting in Columbia last week end should induce one young journalist of the Northwest Missourian staff to hereafter write stories ungrudgingly for the College paper. This young reporter is John L. Ford.

Last fall when Editor Dalbey asked Jack to write a story on "Our Dog Mike's" grave, which is on the east side of the administration building, the reporter shirked, grumbled, hesitated and mumbled, "Why should I write one this year—each year there has been a story on that." Finally, however, Jack consented, and turned in what he claimed to be a "poor story."

In Columbia at a luncheon last Saturday, the medal for the best feature story of the year in Missouri College papers was awarded to Jack Ford for his writing of "Our Dog Mike."

Congratulations, Jack! And may you ne'er shirk or grumble at another assignment!

The program for college newspaper men and women started Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock with an address by the president of the Association, William Dee, of Student Life, organ of Washington University in St. Louis. Mr. Dee's address was on "Freedom of the College Press."

Edward Orr, Jr., professor of journalism at Principia College, spoke on "Trends in Modern Journalism," and he pointed out the differences of professional journalism and creative journalism. Douglas V. Martin, promotion manager of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, spoke on "Newspaper Promotion as a Career." Mr. Martin enumerated the duties of a promotion director.

Gus M. Oehm, of New York, former United Press reporter and a New York newspaper correspondent to Berlin, spoke on "A Foreign Correspondent in Berlin," pointing out the several phases and kinds of foreign correspondence.

Friday evening, the representatives attended a banquet sponsored by the school of journalism and held at the Brewer Field House in Columbia. Over six-hundred "ladies and gentlemen of the press" attended the banquet.

For a half-hour before the banquet, the University ROTC band, under the baton of Mr. George Venable, entertained the early guests. Acting Dean of the School of Journalism, Mr. Frank L. Martin, presided as toastmaster, and the toast of the evening was to the President of the United States.

After the banquet dinner, Mr. Martin read greetings and regrets for not being present from Walter Williams, former president of the University and dean of the school of journalism, and Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture. Speakers on the program included Mr. Walter M. Harrison, editor of a large daily in Oklahoma, and Chester C. Davis, national AAA administrator.

May Fete Will Be Elaborate Show

Setting Taken From Hungary During Grape Harvest.

The May Festival this year as has been previously announced, is the "Countess of Tokay." The full cast of characters is:

Countess Marie—Frances Feurt.
Tinka, the little fortune teller—Norma Ruth Logan.
Lieutenant—Orville Johnson.
Latzl—Ralph Westfall.
The Innkeeper—Fritz Cronkite.
The Gypsy Chief—Luke Palumbo.
The setting is in Hungary, and the story takes place during the three-day grape harvest at the chateau Tokay.

Peasants are going to be taken from seventy-five singers, and gypsies are to be taken from the college orchestra. The May Festival opens with singing and a peasant dance given by one hundred and seventy-five peasants taken from the grades, high school and college students. Male singers represent a group of soldiers.

Act I takes place in front of the Inn. The first dance is called the Czardas, which is the national folk-dance of Hungary. During this act there is also the Lieutenant's tap and the Bar-maid's dance which is composed of fifty-two girls.

In Scene I of Act II the players are in a gypsy camp, and the first dance is a tambourine dance given by thirty girls. Ralph Westfall will give a gypsy solo dance, and Doris Logan will lead a dance of the Demons in this scene. The dancers include Bernice Sloan, Dorothy Wort, Inez Daniels, Dorothea Davis, Medford McFall, Katherine Lu Gray, Edna Mary Monk, Marjorie Goode, Mary Frances Sutton, Lucy Mae Benson, Betty Bosch, and Virginia Needles.

The fourth dance is called the Gypsy Festival Dance, in which will be a couple dance given by the following couples: Margaret Turney and John Wright, Barbara Zellar and Eldon Thompson, Frances Todd and Luke Palumbo, Helen Leet and Phillip Stenger, Madeline Jackson and Reece Streeter, Nell Zimmerman and Ralph Morrow, Clara Ellen Wolf and Leland Thornhill, Velma Cass and Dusty Rhodes, Elizabeth Plank and Ernest Morrow; Norma Ruth Logan and Marvin Borgmier.

A Love Dance following the couple dance will be given by Ralph Westfall and Frances Feurt.

Scene II will open in the Inn with the Chorus singing "Hot-Cha-Cha," assisted by the College Quartet.

Scene III of Act II is a street scene in front of the Inn, made up of the Grape Harvest. The first dance of this scene is the solo dance of the Fortune Teller, Norma Ruth Logan. Intermediate and junior high school girls will give the harvest dance during this scene. Grade boys will give an acrobatic number on the street, and following this, the wine press dance of the tappers will be given. The tappers are: Bernice Sloan, Norma Ruth Logan, Thelma Todd, Marjorie Goode, and Katherine Gray.

Next there will be an old gypsy folk dance called the Jany, given by the soldiers and sixty gypsies.

Act III is given over to celebrating the Betrothal of the Countess and the Lieutenant. The first dance will be the Ladies of the Court, composed of twenty-four dancers. Following this dance, the Countess will give her solo dance.

Girls of the capella choir will sing "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" and a dance will be given by the Lieutenant, the Countess and eight bridesmaids. The bridesmaids are: Velma Cass, Doris Logan, Margaret Turney, Doris Kendall, Helen Leet, Helen Gaugh, Dorothy DeFew, and Lila Gray.

One of the more modern features of the May Festival is a dance by Itegenates which parallels Sally Rand's Bubble Dance. Twenty-three (Turn to page 4)

LOVE THINE ENEMIES.

An enemy may be likened to what a famous speaker once said of democracy; "The cure for its ills is just more and more of it." The more actual democracy that is infused into that system of government, the fewer will be its evils; the more you associate with an enemy, the more you will come to see that his faults are not so bad nor his good points so few after all.

The truth of such an assertion may be doubted by some of the readers, but a number of cases in point have convinced the writer that his conclusion is correct in most cases. Forced association with a number of people who were thought to be "high-hat," domineering, unfair and a smattering of everything else, has ended in establishing lasting friendships with these same people. Their faults and animosities proved to be little more than figments of the writer's imagination.

Of course this closer association will not erase all of the faults in the other fellow's character but to expect that would be beyond the bounds of reason anyway. If you come to really understand his character you will be able to overlook a number of those faults, as all good friends do.

Regardless of whether this theory is right or wrong, it might pay all of us well to try it out in actual practise. We have nothing to lose by such a trial. So long as the other fellow remains an enemy you're both the losers; if you can somehow make a friend of him, you're both the winners. The chance of making a friend would be pay enough for trying it once anyway.

HOW MUCH DO YOU VALUE BEAUTY?

Those of our readers who have had enough "intestinal fortitude" to wade through these dull and lengthy editorial dissertations for the past year have doubtless noticed the considerable number of appeals that have been made in behalf of keeping our campus neat and clean. Several times the editor has raved on at great length, imploring the students to "keep on the walks," "watch your waste paper" and to observe numerous other restrictions calculated to preserve the natural beauty of the campus.

Whether or not those admonitions were read and obeyed is "water past the mill" now; we won't concern ourselves with by-gones. But we would like to make just one more request on that subject; a request which, with a few moment's consideration on your part, will probably do more in preserving the "campus beautiful" than a dozen dry lectures on the subject.

The next time you walk around the campus, take just a few moments to observe the scenery that greets your eye on every hand. Do you see that orchard, white with apple blossoms; those long slopes covered with grass as green as a September freshman; the walks lined with shrubbery and young trees? Certainly you do, and you know that your Alma Mater would not be the same if the trees and the shrubbery were gone, and the grass trampled into the dry, dusty earth, or strewn with myriad pieces of waste paper. A campus like that would be shameful and disgusting to every one of us.

So what? Well, you know. Let's value the beauty that our campus has and treat it accordingly; we'll all share the 100 percent dividends that a little care will return.

Bridge is a game invented for people who play at work and work at play.

The cadets at Virginia Military Institute have finally defined heredity—It is something a father believes in until his son starts to act like a fool. But the boys should have added that even then the father continues to believe in heredity—He just starts giving the wife's folks their share of the credit for it.

Sigma Sigma Sigma Spring Formal

A little piece of Hawaii wafted across the ocean and settled down in the ball room of the Elks Club last Saturday night just long enough to accommodate the Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma which was, at that time, entertaining with a Honolulu Moonlight Dance. The members of Earl Gardner's broadcasting orchestra from Omaha were seated on the "beach" with a full moon in a dark blue sky looking down upon them. Decorations of palm trees, flowers and ferns made a more realistic effect, and a spot-light thrown upon the scene cast leafy shadows against the background. The punch table was decorated with flowers and foliage, and Mary Catherine Bruce and Jo Ellen Shields, dressed in Hawaiian costumes, served the punch.

Special Hawaiian dances were given by the dancing pupils of Mrs. Ray Bloomfield. They were typical Hawaiian costumes. Those taking part in the specialties were: Marjorie Anne Roland, Mary Catherine Bruce, Betty Claire Wallace, Hattie Mae Costello, Jo Ellen Shields, Betty Jean Todd, and Maxine Louthan. Favors of all colors of leis were distributed among the guests by those giving the dances.

The committee in charge of the dance was: Lucy Lloyd, chairman, Mary Peck and Louise Gutting.

Chaperones for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Stults, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Scott, and Miss Estelle Campbell and her escort Mr. Roy Fisher. Guests were the Misses Erma Walker, representative of Alpha Sigma Alpha; Lucy Mae Benson, Marian Maloy and Mildred Clardy; and their escorts Kurby Bovard, Virgil Yates, representative of Sigma Mu Delta; Marvin Borgmier, representative of Sigma Tau Gamma fraternity, and Elbert Barrett. Alumnae and their escorts were: Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ogden, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Wood Harris, Jr., of Harris; the Misses Faye Sutton, Gladys Opal Cooper, and Dortha Gates of Grant City, and Harold Fields, Joe Arnote, and Jack Barker of Grant City.

The actives and their escorts were Dorothy Sandison, Marceline Cooper, Jean Montgomery, Helen Kramer, Virginia Coe, Margaret Humphreys, Edra Keplar, Lucy Lloyd, Charlotte Clapham, Jacqueline Rush, Louise Gutting, Jean St. Clair, Virginia Lee Danford, Mary Peck, Beatrice Leeson, Florence Petersen, and Walter Rulon. Marvin Shamberger, John Petersen, Jack Ford, Eernard Hamman, Albert Mix, Dale Griffith, Paul Foster, Wylie Candor of Cedar Bluff, Nebr., Gerald Rowan, Donald Lindsey, James Stephenson, Gerald Walker, Dean Taylor, Clarence Lloyd, and Eldon Thompson.

Pledges and their escorts were Virginia Mutz, Dixon Campbell and Mary Jane Newlon and Virgil Woodside, Norman Shisler and Jack Duncan.

Sigma Sigma Sigma Entertained With Pot-Luck Supper

Alpha Epsilon Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma was entertained at a pot-luck supper Wednesday evening, May 1, at the home of Louise Gutting in Maryville. Lilacs centered the table from which the guests were served. A regular business meeting preceded the supper.

Those who attended were: alumnae, Mildred Clardy; social sponsor, Mrs. Gerald Stults; actives, Dorothy Sandison, Marceline Cooper, Helen Kramer, Jean Montgomery, Edra Keplar, Margaret Humphreys, Jacqueline Rush, Mary Peck, Florence Petersen, Virginia Lee Danford, Virginia Coe, Beatrice Leeson, Lucy Lloyd, Charlotte Clapham, and Jean St. Clair; pledges, Dixon Campbell and Mary Jane Newlon.

Sigma Tau Gamma Spring Formal

Beta Chapter of Sigma Tau Gamma will give its annual spring formal, Saturday, May 11, at the Country Club. George Bartlett's orchestra of Omaha will play.

Pi Omega Pi Spring Banquet

Pi Omega Pi Spring Banquet will be given tonight at the Hotel Linville in honor of the initiation of Jesse Dean Taylor into the active chapter and Frances Feurt into the pledge chapter. New members are taken into the commercial fraternity each quarter. Committees for the spring banquet are as follows: Invitation, Dorothy Sandison, Martha Mae Holmes; Program, Nadine Wooderson, Dean Miller, Elizabeth Adams; Decoration, Beatrice Lemon, Marian VanVickle, and Doris Stoneburner.

End of Relief.

Under the present plans of the President, a fundamental change must come in the national plans for the unemployed. Permanent work must come to take the place of the relief measures of the last few years. President Roosevelt points to the rebuilding of decadent rural communities as a possible solution of a part of the permanent problem of the unemployed. He advocated irrigation, conservation, and reforestation projects. He is strongly in favor of the continuation of the CCC camps and making the permanent work of these boys follow the lines of soil erosion projects.

Payment of the Public Debt

The total expenditure on relief of the government has risen to nine and a half billion dollars. How is the government to meet the payment on such a large debt? Most of the money has been spent in three branches of relief: the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, and the Farm Credit Administration. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has made the best return payment, to date, of the three agencies. The Home Owners' Loan Corporation has taken over 847,000 mortgages, but it is failing to receive payments from the mortgagees on their mortgages.

"Defense for the Strong"

Every country of the world seems to be on the defensive these days. No one would take the offensive, but everyone is afraid the other will; and each country arms to the limit. Look at some recent developments: France—The French army has recently been made larger. A strong fortification line of 200 miles has been built along the Franco-German frontier.

Great Britain—British naval plans which will increase the strength of the British navy are going forward rapidly.

Italy—Mussolini is placing the Italian youth under stringent militarization rules. The Italian navy shows a marked increase.

Russia—A new source of power comes in the Soviet Government which has one of the best and largest equipped armies. Russia has the potentiality of becoming the greatest military power in the world.

United States—According to military authorities, the United States is beginning to feel the "folly and futility" of her failure to rearm and keep up with the military increases of her sister nations. An appropriation of one-half billion dollars has been made for the navy and naval air forces.

Rumania—Rumania is planning a national defense which is intended to make her the strongest military power of southeastern Europe.

Japan—Japan is a naval and military power in the east that has and will make itself felt in any struggle that may come among nations.

China—Even China is hopefully building up its aviation. Several million men are enlisted in the public and private armies of China.

Chaco—Paraguay and Bolivia are still engaged in the war that is not a war. One of the most important battles of the three-year struggle was waged this week as Paraguay steadily pushes northward into Bolivian territory. Bolivian losses have been very heavy.

Every newspaper has given Cape the edge in the MIAA conference meet at Kirksville this afternoon. It is true they have one of the strongest teams they have ever had, but as I said before—they must win before we will say they have the best team.

There are several ways to look at this state meet, but it would be easier to look at it this afternoon and not try to dope it now. But here goes—Cape and Maryville will battle for first place honors—Springfield and Rolla will battle for second place; while Kirksville and Warrensburg will try to shove each other into the basement. The Bearcats should win the broad jump and the pole vault. The Bearcats will win the sprint events, Cape will win the hurdles, the mile and probably the two mile. Now I have started and you can finish this dope to suit yourself.

There are people who believe that Herschel Neil will set three new records at the state; then there are people who believe that he will only set two new records—But I believe he will be high point man for the meet.

Mr. and Mrs. Marlon "Gus" Guiliams, visited with friends at the College for a short time late Wednesday afternoon of this week, before returning to their home in Jefferson City. Mr. Guiliams, who finished the work for his Bachelor of Science Degree in 1931, was unusually well known and popular while in school. Since Mr. and Mrs. Guiliams have been married but a short time this was Mrs. Guiliams first trip to the College. As usual, Gus "let the cat out of the bag" when he met Mr. Cooper in the hall and said, "Oh yes, I remember of seeing you in one of the theatres in Jefferson City recently!"—Of course this was a bit embarrassing for Mr. Cooper, since he knows that everyone thinks he has been working terribly hard in Jefferson City, representing the people.

'Pop' Cook Unable to Resist Spring

When college boys succumb to the balmy charms of spring and throw away their neckties it's nothing more than is to be expected: but ah! when the dignity of a college professor gives way to such gross frivolity, that's news! Page the nearest reporter.

That, oh gentle reader, is just by way of preparing you for an account of the most awful social catastrophe that has taken place on this campus since Orange Pekoe was first discovered to be drinkable. It's simply scandalous, but here goes; we simply can't hold it any longer!

T. H. "Pop" Cook, our venerable and much-loved instructor in Social Science, actually came to school last week without a necktie! Can you TIE that? Well, we couldn't either. In fact, we couldn't trust our eyes that it was Mr. Cook until we heard him whisper this anguished plea to another faculty member: "Take me home, take me home quick, won'tcha? I've just got to get a necktie! You know I just came off and forgot it this morning."

And right there's where we stepped up with our little book of Emily Post and said: "That's all right this time, Mr. Cook, but we're warning you, don't ever let it happen again."

And "Pop" said he wouldn't.

Miss Eva Lu Burdett and Mrs. Herbert Gould were dinner guests at Residence Hall, Friday, May 3.

Eldon Steiger, a graduate of the College who has been superintendent of schools at Ravenwood for the last several years, was at the College, Wednesday of this week, seeking teachers for the Ravenwood schools.

Music Department Gives Programs

The College Conservatory of Music furnished musical programs Wednesday of last week for assemblies at Hamilton and Cameron. It will entertain at Albany and at Bethany, May 13th and at Rockhurst and Mound City May 14th.

Miss Ruth Tegtmeyer, Mrs. W. J. Montgomery, Mr. Herman Schuster and Mr. Alphonse Gallewicz participate in the programs.

Miss Fern Babcock, national field secretary of YMCA, was a luncheon guest of the Maryville organization of YWCA at Residence Hall, Tuesday, May 7. Those present were: Anita Aldrich, Clara Ellen Wolf, Nella Rose Hofman, Monica Lash, Jane Sandy, Dorothy Gstrein.

Mehus at St. Joseph

Dr. O. Myking Mehus, instructor in the social science department of the College, will speak at the state convention of the Missouri Home Economics Association to be held at St. Joseph Friday and Saturday of this week.

The theme of the meeting is "The Role of Home Economists in the Social-economic Adjustment." Dr. Mehus will speak at a Friday session on the subject of "The Contribution of Sociology to the Social-economic Adjustment."

Sessions of this meeting are to be at the YMCA and YWCA buildings in St. Joseph.

William "Bill" Moore, a graduate of the College now superintendent of schools at Pleasanton, Iowa, was at the College for a short time last Saturday, seeking teachers.

William "Bill" Meek, a graduate of the College who has been coach of athletics at Milan for the last five years, visited the College last Saturday.

Field Secretary For Y Groups Here

Miss Fern Babcock, field secretary for the YMCA and YWCA, and an honored guest at the College this week, spoke to an assembly of College women in the auditorium last Wednesday morning. Miss Babcock, whose work in the field covers the territory of Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Texas, plans to visit the religious organizations in the different colleges of the four states at least once a year.

Miss Babcock's work includes the organization and direction of all fall, spring and summer conferences of the YMCA and the YWCA. The 1934 fall conference of the organizations was held at Westminster College in Fulton, Missouri, and the spring conference was held last week-end at the Longview Farms in Kansas City. Kirby Page, well-known peace advocate, was the principal speaker at the spring meeting.

This summer, the conference is to be held near Lake Taneycomo at Hollister, Mo. At this conference, extending from June 3 to June 12, approximately 50 schools will be represented. The purpose of the Hollister conference is to assist students in appropriating the resources of religion for themselves; to help them to discover their part in creating the family of God on earth; and to train them for leadership in the Student Christian Association. The conference will be under the leadership and direction of outstanding people in the fields of religion, world organization, race relations, and family problems.

Miss Babcock has visited here before and has spoken to the organizations. Her previous visit here was one of strenuous activity.

A luncheon in Miss Babcock's honor was given last Tuesday, May 7, and a discussion meeting at a pot-luck supper was held that evening in the YW hut. Following the pot-luck supper was a joint meeting of the College YM and YW. At the joint meeting, Miss Babcock discussed possible programs for next year, and the advisability of the student Christian Associations was considered. Individual opinions were expressed and a better understanding of the functions of next year's organization became obvious.

During the course of the business session, the problem of reorganization of the two societies into one working unit was considered. It was agreed that more joint meetings should be made possible, although the possibility of the combination of the organizations seemed doubtful, due to difficulties arising from the time at which the meeting would necessarily have to be held. The organizations decided, however, that working with one unit of study for a definite length of time and then popularizing the ideas formulated would be a plan worth considering.

One of the greatest problems is the organization of the plans for the year in such a way that the work will start immediately so that a lasting impression will be made upon new students, it was pointed out. A strong basis for work in the future was built in the interest aroused in the summer conference.

The possibility of several young men and women attending the meeting at Hollister was considered in the meetings last week. A discussion of religious problems did much to help the organizations gain new spirit and great progress is expected in the future.

While in Maryville, Miss Babcock was a guest at Residence Hall. During her two days' stay here, Miss Babcock held conferences with both old and new cabinet members, advising them as to the value of the work in the past year and helping them to form plans for the following year.

E. R. Adams, assistant to the state superintendent of schools, gave the commencement address for the Ridgeway High School Thursday night of this week. Mr. Adams, a graduate of the College, until recently was superintendent of schools at Chillicothe. For a number of years he was superintendent of schools at Tarkio.

Appropriation Made For State Colleges

The Missouri Senate in Jefferson City last week came to the aid of "needy students" who are working their way through the University of Missouri and the five State Teachers Colleges when it made new appropriations for "student labor" in each of those institutions.

Each of the teachers colleges was voted $10,000 for "student labor" and the University was voted $45,000 for the same purpose. Add to that the increased appropriation of $30,000 to each of the teachers colleges, and each school will receive as follows: Springfield, $390,000; Cape Girardeau, Kirksville, and Maryville, $365,000 each; and Warrensburg, $380,000.

Various types of part-time work outside of class work is done by many students, including athletes, but the number has been limited since no designated funds have been provided with which to pay the workers. The money "is to be used in helping needy students working their way through schools," according to Senator J. S. Rollins of Columbia, chairman of the appropriations committee which recommended the appropriations for student labor.

The senate increased the amount approved by the House of Representatives several weeks ago by $49,000, and, under the present plans, the University will receive $3,219,770 of the general revenue fund—about $1,400,000 more than was voted two years ago.

Other educational institutions of the state which were voted additional appropriations include: Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, increased from $385,000 to $403,050; School for the Deaf at Fulton, increased from $352,900 to $375,000; Lincoln (Negro) University at Jefferson City, increased from $340,000 to $400,000.

The educational institutions measure passed the Senate, 24 to 0, after increases were made for most of the schools, and the bill now returns to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Dexter Harvey, a former S. T. C. student who has been teaching the Franklin School near DeKalb, in Buchanan County, was at the College on Wednesday of this week. Mr. Harvey ranks as a junior and is planning to be in school this summer.

met again at Neff Hall, and heard criticisms of difference college newspapers, with suggestions for improving the journals given by Roscoe B. Ellard, professor in the M. U. School of Journalism.

At a one o'clock luncheon in Harris' Cafe in Columbia, the Association held its last meeting of the year. Officers were elected for the coming year, and awards were presented for certain accomplishments during the year.

Mr. Landon Laird, editor of the "About Town" column in the Kansas City Star, addressed the Association after the luncheon had been served. Mr. Laird spoke to the journalists on the topic of columns, and revealed some "do's" and some "don'ts" to those preparing to be columnists.

The Alumni Secretary has received a copy of the golden jubilee number of the official publication of the National Editorial Association. The publication carries the pictures of the official personnel of the Association and in the group of pictures is that of Mr. Harry B. Rutledge, a former S. T. C. student who is now managing Director of the Association, with offices in Chicago. Mr. Rutledge is a graduate of the school of Journalism of the University of Missouri.

J. A. Housman, B. S., '26, visited with friends at the College, Tuesday of this week. Mr. Housman, now on a few days vacation, is working with the Bureau of Prisons of the Department of Justice of the United States, and has been located at El Reno, Oklahoma for the last few years. He mentions that he has been with the Bureau since 1931

NAUGHTY MARIETTA

There is no need for a lot of whangdoodle talk about cigarettes
—just plain common-sense

When you stop to think about your cigarette—what it means to you—here's about the way you look at it—

Smoking a cigarette gives a lot of pleasure—it always has.

People have been smoking and enjoying tobacco in some form or another for over 400 years.

Of course you want a cigarette to be made right. And naturally you want it to be mild. Yet you want it to have the right taste—and plenty of it.

In other words—you want it to Satisfy.

Scientific methods and ripe mild tobaccos make Chesterfield a milder and better-tasting cigarette. We believe you will enjoy them.
